Alida September

Happenings

Submitted by Edel Cowan

Our Chinese family, Fang, Ji, Tammy, Jason and George have all enjoyed a holiday vacation for a week touring and camping in the northern area of the United States. See you all back at the store when you return – welcome back home folks. Their oldest daughter, Xioulou did not accompany the family on this vacation as she was enjoying her holiday visiting back home with family in China. Hope you are having a super time and we'll see you whenever you make it back home to Alida.

Hello September. Hope everyone had a great long weekend with the Labour Day holiday on Monday, Sept 4. Here we are keeping busy with the harvest – have a safe harvest folks and good luck. Students and staff are back in school, getting settled into their new schedule – good luck everyone and enjoy another school year.

In the evening of Thursday, September 7 the Alida Rec Board – Haunted House group held a meeting at the rink to see what the interest in the Haunted House for this year would be. Shelly was very pleased with the turn out and especially with the many new faces who came and all who offered to help in any way they can. The decision was pretty well unanimous that the 2023 Alida Hunted House and Escape Rooms will be a Go. There were also many new ideas popping up to happen for the event so keep your eyes and ears open for further details and dates in which it will be held.

The pallets were the first to arrive at the rink and some enthusiastic people showed up to help begin the setting up and floor design for this year's haunted house. It's looking interesting – don't forget your help will always be needed, don't leave it up just the usual few – they need YOU. This will be the 26th year for the Haunted House. I can hardly wait for the dates to be announced and the event to be underway. Remember to keep turned for any news either here in my news column, on the Alida Rec Board Facebook page or by word of mouth. It will surely be SPOOK-TAC-ULAR!

The Alida community extends sincere sympathies to Leona Curle and family on the death of her husband William (Bill) Curle) who had passed away unexpectedly on September 11/2023 at the age of 85. He was well known in the Redvers area as a very successful businessman, entrepreneur and wore many different hats throughout his life. A celebration of his life was held September 16. Condolences are also extended to all members of the Curle family and Carriere family.

Only other activity around Alida is happening at the rink – yes it is taking on a new look once again. Shelly and her usual crew of 2 or 4 are hard at trying to transform the rink into a Haunted House. It's a lot of work folks, if you have a few moments to spare, please come down and help her out – just check your text messages for when she is there or watch for her vehicle parked by the side of the rink – she'd appreciate all the help you are able to give. See you around.

Linda and Don Akins spent their holidays visiting members of their family. They first travelled to Cranbrook, BC to visit with daughter Melissa and enjoyed some sightseeing. They then went on to Cochran, AB to visit with son Ryan and while there enjoyed supper with their nephew Dean and Deb Mohrbutter (who are from Calgary). They then stopped in Swift Current and had lunch with Linda's brother Paul and Elaine Rogg. Their next stop was in Regina where they had supper with granddaughter Karly and her friend Jarius before returning home. A great holiday time was surely had.

Shelly Cowan, daughter Ainsley and her friends, Tammy and Amy attended the Sask Expo Regina event on September 23. While there they also visited with Lacie Nilsen and Jesse Fuchs returning home the next day.

The Alida Haunted House & Escape Rooms dates have now been set for 2023. They are October 20 – 21 and October 27 – 28 as well as on the 29th with the Fun Fair scheduled for that day. Posters have and are being distributed around and on Facebook (Please check for corrected dates, as above) – if any questions or information please contact Shelly (306-485-7023). Also to make sure you are entered in for our "Like & Share" Facebook Post for a chance to win some gift cards which are sponsored by Aries Excavating. This is our 26th year – so come out and enjoy these experiences.

Just another update on the Haunted House proceedings – the floor plans are all laid out, framed and enclosed in. The curtains are in place and now it's decorating time – lots of work to do. Hope to see some of you down at the rink to help finish up with this step. All the spooks, ghosts and goblins will be arriving soon to take up their spot in this new area. Oh it's really getting exciting now – see you at the rink.

Back to serious side – farming has moved right along and the harvesting has come to an end for us – Yahoo. Carry on fellas and remember be safe the end is near. Finally the dampish weather has let up and the sun is shining once again – this in turn will allow the farmers to get back out in their field and try to get finished with this year's harvest. Good luck guys – safe going!

Shelly Cowan was accompanied by daughter, Ainsley, Gail McLachlin, Margaret Peet and Rozanne McClung to the Alameda Escape Rooms on September 29. They said an awesome job was done and that had a great time and really enjoyed it. They did escape but were 3 minutes late.

Curling has finally returned to the TV sports channels – I'm in my glory now and will be watching and cheering hard – Go Saskatchewan Go!

Good bye September – Hello October – It will be Thanksgiving long weekend on October 9 – Happy Thanksgiving everyone!

And don't forget the Alida Haunted House is coming up, it's just around the corner – Hope to see you all there sometime. Have a SPOOK-TAC-ULAR time.

SOAKING UP SUNSHINE, PONDERING HISTORY

Submitted by Jocelyn Hainsworth

I'll set the scene a little here: I'm sitting under the sun canopy on the top deck of yacht sailing to yet another of the islands in the Adriatic Sea. The tour excursion guide has told us repeatedly how many islands there are but my poor old brain only has so much storage capacity so I'm letting some of those details slip. We are a group of 34 and I haven't even got half the names straight yet, let alone who the married couples are. So far I haven't missed the boat or been late for dinner so I've the important things covered.

Our first two days in Croatia were rainy but we are back to hot and sunny now. Regardless, we went on the walking tours to learn about the history of the place. The details of names and dates are lost on me but the gist of it is that this region has been taken over/conquered/annexed multiple times over the last 2000 years and each period shows a different type of architecture, and depending on how much was destroyed when the next batch took over, there can be three different styles of building on the same street. (And by 'street' I mean tiny cobblestoned passage between buildings). The way my brain does pick up information I store bits of trivia, hence I know that if you see the symbol of lions with wings it means that the Venetians have been there. I'm sure that will come up in conversation some day

The first couple of days was all land tours. We travelled by bus to different places. We have hiked up and down canyons along a chain of little lakes and many many waterfalls, and we've seen several places that were used as sets for Game of Thrones. The main industry here is tourism but they also grow olives, and grapes for wine. I think today will be our third oil and wine tasting session. If I keep this up I should be pretty good at it by the time I get home!

Everyone has their own point of context though. The young people come to destinations like this to party. The older ones it's for the warmth and to see the world. While I'm in that bracket, I'm also a farmer. As the bus, and now the boat, travel past the countryside a little voice inside my head keeps asking "why on earth would anyone want to conquer this land?" There is nothing but rock. Oh, okay, there's the olives and the wine thing, but really? There has got to be easier places to plant them!

Regardless, they came and they conquered.

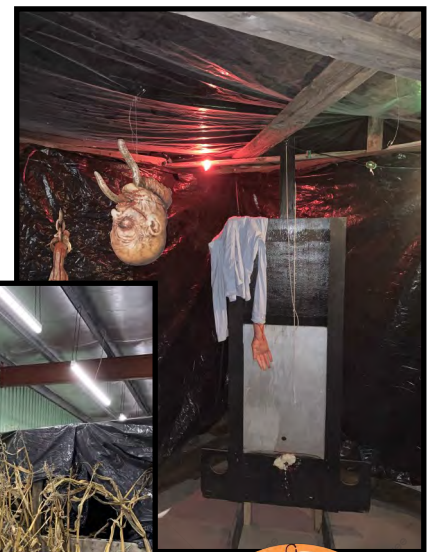

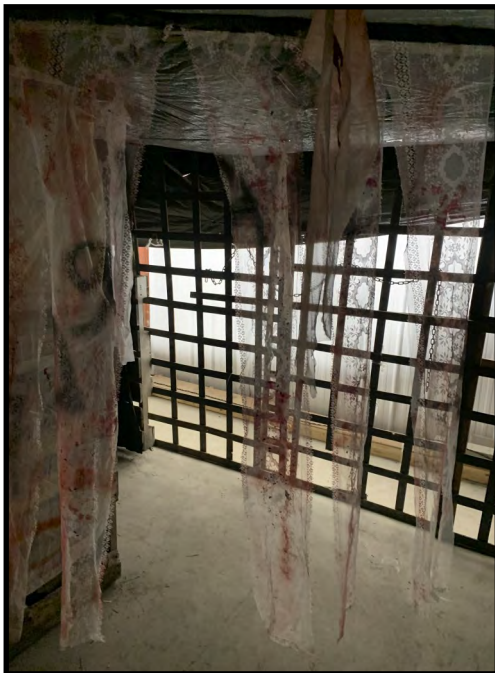

Repeatedly.

This morning as the party crowd and the adventurers swim off the back of the boat I'm sitting on the upper deck and pondering the skyline. When I travel west on #1 between Swift Current and Medicine Hat the land is so open and vacant and vast. What went through the minds of the first European explorers and settlers when confronted with such endlessness? Weren't they afraid of the unknown?

And now I gaze out over the Adriatic Sea from my perch on the top deck of a modern yacht and try to put myself in the shoes of those first mariners in their tiny wooden boats. How fearless they must have been. How did they know where to go? How did they stay safe from storms and dangerous shores?

Maybe they didn't conquer for any other reason than they had found solid ground and weren't going to give it up again.

Obituary for Bill Curle 1938-2023

William (Bill) George Curle, husband, father, grandfather, brother, businessman, entrepreneur, former mayor, volunteer, restaurateur, farmer, gardener, hunter, camper, fisherman, home-flipper, crop-checker, unpatented gadget inventor, prankster and teller of the most groan-worthy dad jokes, died unexpectedly on Monday, September 11.

Bill was born June 2, 1938, in Redvers SK, the third child of Marion (McLean) and Andy Curle and younger brother and sometimes accomplice to Andrea, Dick and later, younger brother Monte.

He married his main squeeze Leona Carriere, a bank teller, over 60 years ago, with whom they had multiple businesses together and two girls Debra Curle of Malta and Christine Curle of Winnipeg.

He taught them to stock shelves in the grocery store, butcher meat, shoot a rifle, change a flat tire and to have the courage to create lives on their own terms.

He had a lifelong love affair with apple pie, Kit-Kat chocolate bars, Crown Royal, cinnamon buns, Seinfeld and James Bond.

Bill lived his entire life in Redvers, SK and left school to work for his family's grocery business, eventually purchasing the business in 1961. Partners in business and life, Leona and Bill worked side by side in the IGA store for decades, until selling in 1992. He was proud of the new building they built, the largest grocery store in the area at the time. Serial entrepreneurs, Bill and Leona owned and operated many other businesses in town over the years, if he saw a need in the community, he would try to fill it, and make a buck doing it if he could! Bill and Leona owned a trailer business selling campers in the 70's, built and operated a seasonal fast-food restaurant called the Redvers Drive-Inn, a portable sign business, and a furniture and jewelry store, to name a few. Shortly after "retiring" from the grocery store, Bill decided he wanted to be a farmer at the age of 54. He had been a "town-kid" his whole life and had worn a tie to work for much of it but the challenge to learn how to do something new always excited him. He farmed for 7 years and from all accounts, was darned good at it. Bill had a lot of civic pride and volunteered for many community organizations. He spent 40 years on the Chamber of Commerce, was on the board of directors for the Redvers Activity Centre, coached minor hockey, chaired the Redvers Centennial Celebration Committee, was active with the Redvers Wildlife Federation, Redvers Tourism and the Redvers History Book to name a few. In his real "retirement" years Bill took pride in caring for his yard and garden, he loved the days when his seed catalogues would start to arrive. He was a planner and a doer and always said "if there was time to lean, there was time to clean".

Most of all Bill loved his family and his friends. He will be dearly missed and forever in our hearts.

Bill is predeceased by his parents Andy and Marion Curle, Leona's parents Aimie and Yvonne Carriere, brothers-in-law Andy Carriere and Neville Wells, sister-in-law Vivian Curle, nephews Denis Jonasson and Brian Raimbault, niece Duana Jonasson, and his beloved dogs Lassie 1 through 3, Duke and Tuffy. He leaves to mourn his wife Leona, daughter Debra (Olivier Normand), daughter Christine (Jamie Brewster), and two grandchildren he adored Charleigh Haynes and Jack Brewster, siblings Richard Curle, Andrea Jonasson (Ed), Monte Curle (Linda), sisters-in-law Claire Madsen, Denise Paulsen (Arthur), Aline Rioux, and numerous nieces, nephews and special friends.

In Bill's memory, donations to the Redvers Hospital Foundation or STARS ambulance are welcome. Online condolences may be expressed through www.hallfuneralservices.ca.

Thank You

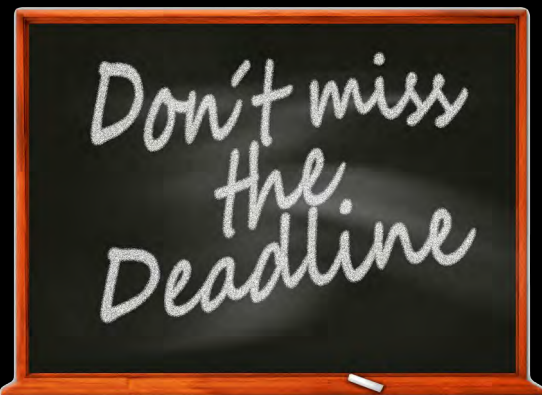

Leona, Debra & Christine Curle and their families would like to express their sincere gratitude to everyone who sent flowers & cards, brought food to the house, made donations in Bill's name and attended his funeral service. Your kindness and compassion during this difficult time are greatly appreciated. We will cherish the stories and memories you shared with us in the past few weeks. Thank you all so very much.
