REDVERS A'S 11U TEAM WINS GOLD AT PROVINCIAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

Submitted by Christina Birch

The Redvers A's 11U Provincial Team claimed gold at the 2025 11U AA Tier 6 Provincial Championship, held from July 18 to 20 in Lumsden, Saskatchewan. Made up of talented young athletes selected from Redvers and Moosomin, the team capped off a dominant weekend with an undefeated record and a gold medal win over the Carnduff Astros.

In preparation for the championship weekend, the team played three exhibition games and competed in the Melville AA Tournament earlier this season, where they placed a respectable third. The experience proved invaluable as they continued to develop and hit their stride in Lumsden.

The Redvers A's opened their round robin play on Friday with a commanding 14-0 win over the Colonsay Reds from Humboldt. Saturday saw two more strong performances, including a 12-9 victory over the Carnduff Astros and a 12-1 win against the Elrose Aces, solidifying their place at the top of their pool.

In Sunday's semi-final, the team continued their dominant run with a 10-0 shutout of the Rocanville Bulldogs, earning them a spot in the gold medal game — a rematch with the Carnduff Astros. In a well fought battle, the A's held firm and emerged victorious with a 6-4 win, sealing the provincial title.

Tournament organizers commended the team's grit, teamwork and sportsmanship throughout the championship weekend in a celebration post congratulating the team on their victory.

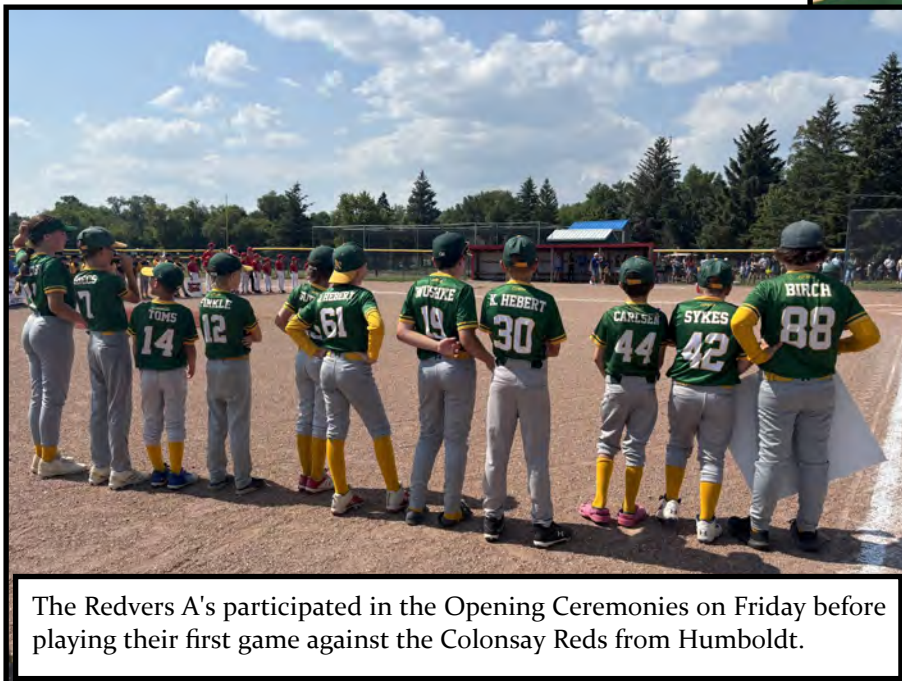

Congratulations to the Redvers A's 11U Provincial Team on their well-earned gold medal performance!

The Redvers A's were appreciative of their fans who showed strong support throughout the season, cheering the team on during exhibition games in Moosomin and Redvers, as well as at the Melville AA tournament ahead of provincials in Lumsden.

Teammates Karter Hebert (Moosomin) and Hunter Birch (Redvers) receive the provincial plaque from Baseball Saskatchewan before celebrating the victory with their teammates.

The Redvers A's participated in the Opening Ceremonies on Friday before playing their first game against the Colonsay Reds from Humboldt.

ALIDA JULY 2025

HAPPENINGS

Submitted by Edel Cowan

Do hope everyone is enjoying their summer holidays as the lazy days of summer continues to roll by too darn quickly. Now why does one say lazy days? They surely are not lazy for most of the working people as they carry on with their daily activities. Oh well just a saying I guess. It is already the first few days in August and time to enjoy the Saskatchewan Day (August 4) long weekend. I hate to say it but it will soon be the end of summer and students/staff will be back at school and harvest will be upon us going full speed ahead. How time does seem to fly by. Be safe and careful out there among all that large equipment.

(The Alida Rec Board report by Shanna Carriere) The Alida Rec Board has had a busy time this June and July. After our Sports Day wrapped up we began the process of getting the swimming pool ready for the swimmers this summer. We got up and running without a hitch and opened 1 July. We were offering three sets of swimming lessons this summer. There were two sets in July which were very successful and there's one coming August 11-15. For more information or to register for swimming lessons call Shannon at 306-485-8647. We are very excited to have our artificial turf in and installed – it looks so great. Thank you so much Travis Carriere for coming to installing that for us. The Prairie Pride Credit Union offered us free swim day on July 24 one till four – it was well attended by many. We all had a really good time. They supplied freebies for the kids and there were lots of prizes to choose from. Thanks to the Prairie Pride Credit Union for doing that. Hope to see everyone again next year.

The flowers on Centre Street are sure blooming up a storm making our town look so pretty and welcoming. All this wet weather we've been having is sure the real deal for the flowers and the gardens around. Hope your garden and plants are doing well. One will soon be busy reaping in the harvest and doing up preserves. It is so nice to enjoy the fresh veggies and fruit that one grows in the garden. Until next time keep busy. Hopefully next time around there'll be more things to report. Everyone is out and about enjoying their holidays visiting – either at home or out at the camper. Enjoy the rest of your holiday time—Happy holidays!!!

REDVERS KIDS CLEAN UP FOR EARTH DAY

Redvers Kids Clean Up for Earth Day with Sweet Reward

The Town of Redvers held a community-wide Earth Day initiative from April 21 to May 2, encouraging local youth to help beautify the town while school was out for Easter Break. Kids were invited to collect small bags of garbage from around the community and bring them to the Town Office. In return for their efforts, participants received a coupon for a free ice cream cone from W&N Ice Cream, Redvers' local ice cream shop.

The program was a success, with several kids taking part in the cleanup while enjoying time outdoors. The sweet treat was both a reward and a reminder that taking care of the environment can be fun—and delicious!

COMMUNITIES IN BLOOM

In 2024, the Town of Redvers joined the Communities in Bloom (CIB) Program. This is the second year participating in the “Evaluated Friends” Category. This category is for communities that are evaluated but not competing in the main competitive categories. It allows communities to receive feedback and recognition for their efforts without the pressure of competing for awards. On July 23, 2025, two CIB judges visited Redvers where the Bloom Committee rode in the transit bus going throughout the community, stopping for Saskatoon pie and cinnamon buns at the Log Cabin, and having lunch at the Rising Phoenix Cafe. The judges not only looked at the flowers within the community, but they looked and inquired about the Town’s cemetery, community events and programs, roads, streets and sidewalks, parks, the water treatment plant, lagoon, transfer station, tree canopy, volunteer initiatives, recreation grounds, health centre, and businesses within the community, just to name a few.

Paired with the CIB program, the Bloom Committee participated for the first year in the Miracle-Gro Best Garden Selection Program. This program recognizes the hard work and dedication to create and maintain impressive gardens. When touring the seven nominee’s gardens, it was apparent the passion for gardening paired with individualized set ups and décor.

Each property had a garden, some in raised beds, others at ground level, a variety of perennials were seen along with annuals to give pops of colors and dimension to the area. Many yards housed sitting areas, bird feeders, decorative pieces and all had flowers that the birds and the bees thrived from. Rain barrels and bird baths were a staple as was neatly cut and trimmed grass. It was evident that these property owners took pride and had great passion for their areas. Not gone are the days with producing gardens and techniques learned from past generations.

To help us decide the top two gardens/yards, we are reaching out to the community to have a fun vote to acknowledge these properties and their owners. This program is meant to celebrate and spread knowledge about the different styles of gardens and yards. There will be a poll on the Town of Redvers’ Facebook Page starting on Friday, August 8 however, we recognize that not everyone is on Facebook, therefore additional voting has been incorporated. You can also vote by calling the Town Office at 306-452-3533, emailing tricia@townofredvers.com or texting the Town cell phone at 306-840-7045. One vote per person and voting will be completed at midnight on Monday, August 18.

The winners will receive a letter from the Communities in Bloom/The Scotts Miracle-Gro Company, along with an award sign, and some Miracle-Gro products. For more information on the Miracle-Gro Best Garden Selection Program, visit www.communitiesinbloom.ca/best-garden-selection/

The Bloom Committee is always looking for new members! If you are interested in joining, please contact the Town Office at 306-452-3533.

THE NEW REDVERS TRANSIT BUS IS HERE!

After months of planning, anticipation, and community involvement, our brand-new transit bus has arrived!

The project was made possible through a successful application to the federal Rural Transit Solutions Fund, which awarded Redvers $200,000 to help purchase the new vehicle. The funding is part of a national initiative aimed at improving mobility options in rural and remote areas, where transportation services are often limited.

Recognizing the need for reliable transportation-particularly for seniors, people with mobility challenges, and those without access to a personal vehicle-the Town of Redvers applied for the funding last year. The process, from approval to delivery, took several months, but the wait was well worth it as the new transit bus now stands ready to serve the community. The van we were using is 10 years old, and it was thought to take a proactive approach and replace it sooner than later.

In addition to the federal support, the purchase of the bus was made possible by significant financial contributions from Kingston Midstream, The Richardson Foundation, and Tundra Oil & Gas. Their generosity ensured that the town did not have to allocate any funds for this purchase in 2025.

The excitement around the new transit service extended beyond just the arrival of the bus. The Town of Redvers invited the public to participate in a community vote to select the decal design that would decorate the vehicle. Residents were encouraged to cast their votes, making the bus not only a practical addition but also a symbol of community pride and involvement.

Redvers Transit covers a variety of needs, providing mobility for seniors, persons with disabilities, and residents who are unable to drive.

We are incredibly grateful to the Government of Canada, The Richardson Foundation, Kingston Midstream, and Tundra Oil & Gas for recognizing the importance of rural transit and for stepping up and supporting the wellbeing of Redvers residents. This new bus will make a meaningful difference in the lives of many people in our community.

BACK ALLEY TREE TRIMMING

This summer, Town Maintenance will be trimming all trees overhanging into alleys. Please be aware that if a tree in your yard overhangs, it will be cut back to the property line. Doing so ensures that traffic down the alley is not impeded or damaged by low hanging branches. This is part of regular maintenance and will occur annually or as needed.

Trees overhanging the property line in front or on the sides of your lot(s) must be trimmed regularly. There are several properties with trees that impede vision on the streets and at intersections. These are a risk to pedestrian safety. Affected properties will be contacted directly.

Dutch Elm Maintenance

Basal Spraying will be taking place in August.

It's Pruning Time!

Those with elm trees on their properties can help keep them healthy by pruning them annually. Due to a provincial ban of pruning from April 1 - August 31, residents in Saskatchewan are allowed to prune elm trees from October 1 - March 31.

THE BEGINNING AND THE END

Submitted by Jocelyn Hainsworth

Way back in the early days of my farm wife life I would be asked out on 'dates' to go crop checking. Please note that the quotation marks are around the word 'dates' and not around the phrase 'crop checking'. We were farmers genuinely going out to check our crops and truly it was as close we ever got to a date.

Depending on what we were checking for, these dates took place at different times of the day; Wheat Midge was an early evening thing, Bertha Army Worm have an all-day-long window, Canola's readiness check for swathing could happen any time, but a hot dry afternoon was best to grind heads of wheat out in our hands to see how far off harvest would be.

My favourite times, though, were the crop emergence checks. These were always done at either sunrise or sunset – my farmer explaining to me that this was when the light was just right to see the bright new green shoots against the rich, dark earth. He was so right. What was crystal clear in that first hour after dawn was nearly invisible at high noon but would show right back up just before night fall. A trick in the intensity of the light and the angle of the shadow made the colours stand out, the landscape unforgettable and quite beautiful.

It was this image of exquisite clarity that sprang to my mind while listening to the homily at a funeral I once attended. The speaker compared a human life span to the duration of a day. "Sunrise, sunset." he offered, "Birth and death." His point wasn't about the amount of time measured with clocks or calendars that either a single day or a lifetime took, but rather the intensity of focus we devote to the beginning and end of them. How it was these singular moments at each end of a lifetime that humans seemed to devote the most attention to.

"Just as when a baby is born, something comes to be that was never here before, and at death something is gone that will never be again" he pointed out, "just so no one dawn or dusk is exactly the same as another." He felt that it seemed irrelevant how long a person lived or what they accomplished in that life; it was at their birth we rejoiced most loudly and at their death that we mourned so deeply.

He went on speaking but by this time the memory of those early morning crop checks had filled my mind and I found myself wondering if this is why we examine life in much the same way. At our dawn is the light just right to envision how much this tiny human might do in their lifetime? And at our sunset do we not naturally take a look back along their row to see how well it grew? I remembered how those brilliant green rows would fade with the high sun light and yet in the evening how they would be visible again. Is that what happens to us in the middle of our lives? Does what we do - how we live – disappear in our daily busy-ness? A photographer once told me that there was no bad time to take a picture with our amazing prairie light, that the trick was just about taking the time to capture it properly.

I love how serendipity works. Within a day or two of this funeral I happened to read an essay written by a mother whose sons had grown and gone away. She wrote her thoughts of their growing up years. She had been diligent throughout their childhood building photo albums of all their milestones – birthday parties and sports events, Christmas mornings and Hallowe'en costumes – but now that they were gone she realized the things that she missed most, the memories that stood out, were the moments no one would ever think to take a camera out for. Her list was very long and included things like lost teddy bear hunts, failed tooth fairy mornings, skinned knees and grass stains, having to share the last ice cream sandwich, homework woes, rained out holidays, a first brush with heartache, the didn't-make-the-team milkshakes, the fine line of giving them space and still watching over them. She now lived in a house where the fridge was full, the rooms were empty, and her photo albums didn't begin to tell the story.

My brain has sifted through this new perspective; I feel there's a piece of wisdom in all of this to be learned and lived. Maybe it's this: that no matter how beautiful or poignant the extreme ends of our days and lives are, the stretch in between – whether it be minutes, days, or years – needs to be captured and treasured in its own light. Don't think that each moment we have isn't significant just because it's hard to focus when the sun is high in the sky.

THE ANNUAL REDVERS HORSE SHOW IS IN THE BOOKS!

Thank you so much to all the people, organizations and Businesses that allow the Redvers Agricultural Society to continue to deliver events in the arena. The Redvers Research Farm stepped up to the plate this year in giving an amazing cash donation as well as providing an awesome man and his machine to work our arena for Show Day, Dana Carlsen for keeping the weeds under control every year, and our 4-H families for using our facility and keeping the grounds clean, our new Ranch Rodeo families that provided another huge bleacher and weekend of excitement for spectators to enjoy!

Competitors came with their amazing equine athletes from as far as Brandon to participate in the horse show. Thank you to them for coming and being exquisite competitors. Thank you to Glenn Gress from Lampman to Judge our show. Glenn and his family have been competitors at the Redvers Horse show for many, many years. He is very knowledgeable and approachable if you need help with your horse.

Glenn is the general leader of Browning 4-H multiple club; project leader in the 4-H horse and 4-H beef projects. His Horse 4-H project is his family supplies horses for kids that don't have the means to own a horse.

We appreciate every donation, and help that we get. Please feel welcome to join in the fun, we are interested to know your ideas, thoughts and wants!

Bellegarde Rural Development Update

Celebrating Our Roots: A Look Back at Bellegarde's Rich History

While summer often brings a quieter pace in Bellegarde, it also offers the perfect opportunity to reflect on the history that has shaped our strong and vibrant community. This August, we're proud to shine a light on the unique story of Bellegarde—one rooted in faith, culture, and resilience.

From Fourth Creek to Bellegarde

The area now known as Bellegarde began its settlement journey in 1891–1892, when French priest Father Jean-Isidore Gaire—who had already founded Grande-Clairière, Manitoba—guided settlers to homestead in what was then called Quatrième Coulée (Fourth Creek). In 1892, Cyrille Sylvestre and his family became the first permanent settlers, laying the foundation for a community that would steadily grow with families from Quebec, Belgium, Luxembourg, and even the United States.

By the late 1890s, approximately 110 people had settled the area, farming and building lives centered around the newly formed parish of St. Maurice de Bellegarde. On August 1, 1898, the Bellegarde post office was officially established, named by Sylvestre, likely in homage to a village in France.

Faith, Education & Community

Faith and education were cornerstones of Bellegarde's early life. The St. Maurice Parish was founded in 1898, followed closely by the construction of a church and rectory. In the early 1900s, the Sisters of the Cross arrived, opening a convent and boarding school. In 1919, a larger convent was built under the leadership of Sister Thérèse-Eugénie, accommodating the growing number of students.

Classes were originally taught entirely in French, preserving the community's language and culture. By 1964, the school's enrollment peaked at 267 students, and in 1995, the community joined the Conseil des écoles fransaskoises, continuing its commitment to francophone education with a modern K–12 school.

A Spirit That Endures

Though time has brought change—stores have closed, and the convent is no longer in use—Bellegarde's heart remains strong. Our church, cultural centre, and school continue to serve the community. The Association communautaire fransaskoise de Bellegarde (ACFB) helps keep our cultural traditions alive, and L'École de Bellegarde ensures that the next generation stays connected to our roots. Next month ACFB will be hosting Camp Voyageur August 18 & 19. Be sure to register with the ACFB on their website for a great couple of days!

As of 2021, Bellegarde is home to 35 proud residents, a number small in size but mighty in spirit. We remain one of Saskatchewan's enduring francophone rural communities, carrying forward a legacy over 130 years in the making.

Wishing everyone a safe and sunny August!

If you have family stories, photos, or memories from Bellegarde's early days, we'd love to hear from you—share them with the BRD for a future feature!
