Covering the Corner is a service provided by the Town of Redvers. It is our intent to provide the community of Redvers and surrounding area with a newsletter that keeps residents connected with the numerous events and activities going on within our fantastic community!

Annual Terry Fox Run

On September 28th, students from grades kindergarten to grade 12 walked around town for the annual Terry Fox walk. We walked for about 45 minutes. As of Oct. 1st, we have raised $3350 in pledges. Way to go Redvers School students! When we returned to the school, we were treated to a donut and a bottle of water.

JEFFREY STRAKER ENTERTAINS AT THE GOLDEN AGE CENTER

Submitted by Angela Ulrich

Jeffrey Straker, Saskatchewan singer, songwriter and pianist, entertained at the Redvers Golden Age Center, Wednesday, September 23rd. Alongside his guitarist, Straker's show featured music and stories spanning from his nearly 20-year career.

Prior to the performance, the Redvers Arts Council announced the return of the Missoula Children's Theatre to the community from November 30 to December 5, 2026, as well as the Redvers Adult Drama Club's production of The Redneck Bites Back on November 13 and 14, 2026. The Redvers Arts Council remains committed to bringing and supporting a diverse range of arts and entertainment events that appeal to audiences of all ages and interests.

ALIDA 2026 OCTOBER HAPPENINGS

Submitted by Edel Cowan

* Wow – what a horrible wet month September proved to be! Let's hope October will be sunny and warm (bit windy too if need be) so that the fellas in the field can get going and continue to finish up the harvest (so far October has been good, hope this doesn't jinks it!).

* Looking at the planning calendar, October should be a very interesting and exciting month – especially for the kids as well as kids at heart. The Alida rink is taking on a new and exciting décor – hopefully you will be able to come and check out our Haunted House. Shelly and her sidekicks have been and are hard at work making things ready for this “Haunting” season. Hopefully you'll be able to make it down for an evening or two. Lots of things will be happening.

* Actually the Village of Alida is also getting involved with some fun looking ideas. They are holding a “Trick or Treat” event on October 30 on Centre Street from 4:00 until 5:00 with scheduled events taking place – a food truck will be available – Alida Fire Truck will be out on display and being involved with the activities and of course the Haunted House will be open as well – a good time to come out and make a tour through their “spooky” hallways. There will be No spooks around at first hour (4:00-5:00) a good time for younger (and older) folks to see how things look. Then the Spooks will arrive at 7:00. We do hope to see you around and about on this last Spooky Halloween night in Alida – at the rink!

* (The Alida Golden Gate report by Rozanne McClung): The Alida Golden Gate continues to be a great place to get together on Wednesdays for cards and visiting and for early morning coffee during the week. We will be making an outdoor winter arrangement in late November or early December. Everyone welcome! Stay tuned for more details. If you think you might be interested, each person will have to supply their own pot filled with dirt. If you have any décor that you would like to include in the arrangement bring it as well. There will be some greenery and some other items available. Hope to see you.

* (The Alida Rec Board report by Shanna Carriere): In September the Alida recreation board winterizes the swimming pool and prepares for winter. Watch for posters for “rink caretakers” in the next month or two. Always weather depending, Shelly and her helpers are preparing to scare 100's at the Alida Haunted House again this year. Opening night will be October 16 plus 17, 23, 24, 30 and 31 at 7-10 pm with the Fun Fair on Sunday, October 25 at 1-3 pm. Hope to see everyone there. Anyone wishing to donate to this event can drop anything off at the Alida Post Office.

* Don't forget the “Fundraising” event in honor of Aaron Lemieux which is happening later this month – keep him and his family in your prayers. Good Luck Aaron and family!

* Finally the weatherman is co-operating so one is getting busy with harvest moving into high gear and going forward. Good luck with the harvest fellas and folks – take care and be careful when you're out there with the machinery.

PEDESTRIANS & MEDICAL MOBILITY DEVICES
Sidewalks are primarily for pedestrians, including people using wheelchairs and medical mobility scooters.

YOUNG & BEGINNER CYCLISTS
Young children and beginner cyclists may use the sidewalk. Please ride slowly, watch for driveways and intersections, and always give pedestrians the right-of-way.

OLDER TEENS & ADULT CYCLISTS
Experienced cyclists are encouraged to use the roadway and follow the rules of the road rather than riding on sidewalks.

ELECTRIC STAND-UP SCOOTERS
Electric kick scooters are not the same as medical mobility scooters. We do not want recreational/electric stand-up scooters being operated on our sidewalks.

DNY FINANCIAL SERVICES INC.

Let's Connect

I'm regularly in Redvers & the surrounding community and always welcome the opportunity to connect, answer questions, and talk about what matters most to you financially. And if you're a recommendation of Robert Soroka, I would especially welcome the opportunity to meet you, get to know you, and be a resource as you consider your financial future.

The Cost of Doing Nothing.

May Be Greater Than You Think.

When it comes to managing money, many people believe the safest decision is to avoid risk altogether. Leaving savings in a bank account or holding everything in cash feels comfortable because the balance never appears to decline.

3%
Assumed
Annual Inflation

$1,500
Purchasing Power
Lost on $50,000

But there's another risk that often goes unnoticed: the cost of doing nothing.

Financial professionals refer to this as opportunity cost, the value of what you give up by choosing one option over another. While a Guaranteed Investment Certificate (GIC) may offer modest growth and help offset some inflation, leaving money entirely idle can quietly reduce your purchasing power year after year.

Consider this hypothetical example. If you leave $50,000 in cash while inflation averages 3%, your account balance may still show $50,000 twelve months later. However, the purchasing power of that money has effectively declined by approximately $1,500. There isn't a withdrawal on your bank statement, but your money now buys fewer groceries, less fuel, and fewer everyday necessities than it did a year ago.

Why do many people choose this path?

Behavioural economists have identified a tendency known as status quo bias, our natural preference to leave things exactly as they are, even when change may lead to a better outcome. In investing, this often results in avoiding decisions because they feel uncertain, even if doing nothing creates a predictable loss over time.

This doesn't mean everyone should pursue higher-risk investments. Every financial decision should reflect your goals, time horizon, cash flow needs, and tolerance for risk.

The important lesson is that preserving wealth isn't just about avoiding market declines. It's also about protecting your purchasing power and ensuring your money continues to work toward your future goals. Sometimes the greatest financial risk isn't making the wrong investment decision.

It's never making one at all.

Well it is here, FALL! Pumpkin Spice, sweaters, falling leaves and crisp mornings. It does sound lovely and is a lovely time of year actually. But with Fall comes work and prep before the "W" word. And we aren't talking about that at all yet, hell No! Fall work is important! Cleaning out this seasons pots, picking the garden and playing a game of Hide-N-Seek with Mr.Jack Frost. We learn not to trust the weather app. EVER! Lets talk trees, shrubs and perennial prep. Don't cut the tops of the perennials, leave them to collect snow to cover themselves for protection and make homes for the Winter for the ladybugs. this will make it easier in the spring to find the plants. But if those plants have seeds and you don't want them to spread in the spring, I suggest carefully cutting and taking them away. Greg always tells me that anything is a weed if you don't want it there. LOL As for trees and shrubs, some you can wrap, this will mainly help from the deer, and I may suggest borrowing my dogs for night time security!

With Trees, Shubs and Perennials, freezing in is a must, especially the first few years after transplanting. Freezing in is simply a heavy water at the base a few times before the hard frost sets in. This helps protect the roots in the harsh winters, it also helps as a slow release watering in the Spring as it thaws.

There is always so much prep to do in the Fall and right now I would love to just curl up with my blanket and book and a Pumpkin Spiced Latte.

And just like that, it's October!

I have to say, fall has been pretty good to us so far. The colours are beautiful, and the weather these past few days has been absolutely gorgeous. These are the kind of fall days I wish we could hang onto for a little longer — because we all know what's coming eventually! 😊

By now, everyone seems to be settling back into their routines. School is well underway, hockey and figure skating are starting up, and evenings and weekends are filling up again. There's something kind of nice about getting back into a routine after the go-go-go of summer... although I'm sure by January I'll be ready for a break from it again!

October is also one of those months with lots of little things to look forward to. Thanksgiving is right around the corner, which is always a good reminder to slow down for a minute, enjoy a good meal and appreciate the people around us. We really do have a lot to be thankful for — even if life gets busy and we sometimes forget to stop and notice it.

And then, of course, there's Halloween! Pumpkins on doorsteps, kids deciding what they're going to dress up as, candy everywhere and all the fun that comes along with it. Whether you go all-out for Halloween or just enjoy seeing the little ghosts and goblins making their rounds, it's another one of those traditions that makes October feel like October.

The days are getting shorter, the evenings are getting cooler, and before we know it, we'll be talking about snow and Christmas. So for now, I'm going to enjoy the fall colours, the sunshine and these beautiful October days while they're here.

Grab a coffee, find a cozy spot and enjoy this month's issue of Covering the Corner. As always, it's filled with a little bit of everything from our corner of the world.

Happy Thanksgiving, Happy Halloween, and enjoy October!

From my corner to yours, Rhonda

BELLEGARDE RURAL DEVELOPMENT COMMUNITY UPDATE

Submitted by Aly Poirier

It has been a busy month at the Bellegarde Hall, and we are excited to share some updates on the work happening in our community space!

Kitchen Renovations

The main renovations in the kitchen are now wrapped up! The new sinks are in place, new subfloor and flooring have been installed, and the countertops have been refurbished and added between the stoves. The kitchen island has also been repositioned to make better use of the space.

Our new glass-front refrigerator has also been moved into its new home in the kitchen. The fridge will be available for use during hall events, but will remain unplugged when the hall is not in use to help conserve power.

There is still one small improvement planned for the kitchen. The existing opening where the air-conditioning unit is located will eventually be replaced with a window. This work will be completed once the new window arrives.

A huge thank you goes out to Darren from Swany's Holdings Ltd. for sharing his construction expertise and for completing the work on our kitchen. We truly appreciate the time, skill and effort that went into improving this important space in our hall!

Next Up: The Hall Roof

With the amount of rain we have received this year, it has become clear that the hall roof is in worse shape than we had originally anticipated. Addressing the roof is now our next major project and will need attention as soon as possible.

The BRD Board is currently looking into options for resealing the existing roof and gathering estimates to determine what the project will cost.

As always, we are looking for funding opportunities and community support. If your business is interested in sponsoring a local project, or if you know of any grants or funding opportunities that may be available, please reach out to a BRD member. Every bit of support helps us maintain our facilities and keep the hall open, safe and available for our community.

Upcoming Events at the Hall

There are several fun events coming up at the Bellegarde Hall!

Salsa Dance Classes – Starting October 3

Get ready to dance! Salsa classes guided by MarieLaure Poirier in conjunction with the ACF will begin October 3. You can sign up at any time and join in the fun. These classes are open to all ages and experience levels, so whether you are an experienced dancer or have never tried salsa before, come out and give it a try!

Check out the ACF and BRD Facebook pages for more information and registration details.

Annual Halloween Carnival – October 30

Plans are also underway for our annual Halloween Carnival on October 30!

This much-loved community event brings everyone together for an evening of food, fun and Halloween festivities. The evening typically includes a meal, carnival games, a costume parade, prizes, music, Halloween-themed treats and a cash bar.

The event is bilingual and everyone is welcome to come out and enjoy the evening. This year's carnival is being organized by the Voyage Québec group and typically runs from 4:00-7:00 p.m.

Keep an eye on the BRD Facebook page for more information about this year's carnival and what you can expect!

A Few Seasonal Reminders

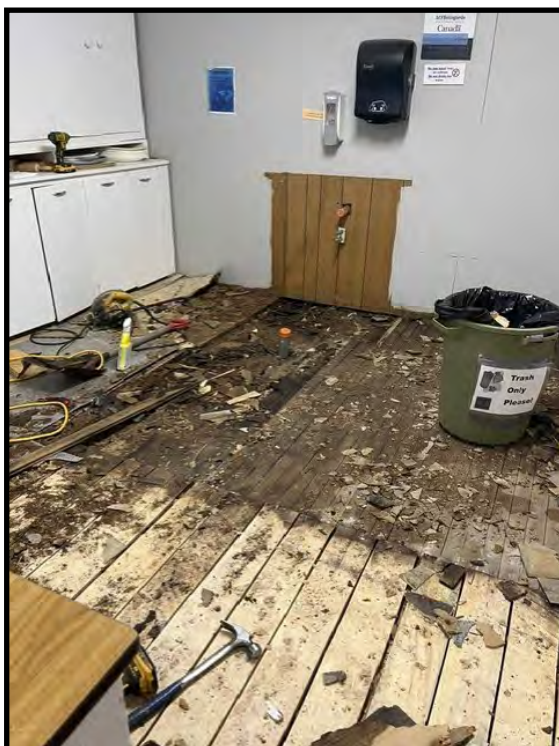

Harvest is still well underway throughout our area, and our local producers are continuing to work hard to get the crop off the fields. We know this harvest season has brought its share of challenges, particularly with the wet conditions, and we wish all of our local farmers and producers well as they continue to muck through the difficult conditions. We hope for better weather and safe conditions as they work to get the harvest finished.

As Thanksgiving approaches, we also want to wish everyone in our local community a very Happy Thanksgiving! We are incredibly thankful for the continued support of our little community. It is wonderful to see people come together, support one another, and continue to use our community spaces as places to gather, celebrate and connect. These spaces are only as strong as the people who support them, and we truly appreciate everyone who helps keep them active.

And finally, Happy Halloween and have fun to everyone taking part in the festivities! Whether you are attending the carnival, heading out trick-or-treating, or simply enjoying the evening at home, we wish everyone a fun and safe Halloween.

For those out on the roads, please drive carefully and watch for increased pedestrian traffic, especially in the evening. And to all of our trick-or-treaters and families visiting neighbouring communities, please remember to be respectful of the community you are visiting — don't litter, respect people's property, and be gracious to those who are welcoming you to their homes. A little kindness and respect go a long way in keeping Halloween enjoyable for everyone.

Thank you to everyone who continues to support the Bellegarde Hall and the work of Bellegarde Rural Development. Your support, participation and willingness to help are what allow us to keep this important community space active and available for everyone. We are grateful to be part of such a caring community and look forward to seeing everyone come together throughout the fall!

WELCOME TO THE ROARIN' REPORT— YOUR INSIDE LOOK AT WHAT THE REDVERS LION'S CLUB IS UP TO

Submitted by Derek Soroka

The September winners were:
$100 – Kelly Boyd and $1300 – Kevin Caldwell

The Lion's recently received the exciting news that they were approved for a $24,596 grant from LCIF on behalf of the Activity Center to help purchase a van. Lion Crystal Aime was instrumental in securing this grant, and we sincerely appreciate all her hard work and dedication through the process. We couldn't be more pleased in securing this for the Activity Center.

Be sure to get your 2027 Calendar from the Redvers Library. There may or may not be a picture that includes some of our stellar Lion members.

If you've been to the Dog Park recently, you may have noticed a wind shelter being built. Before long, you'll have a nice spot to relax and out of the elements while your dogs enjoy some exercise. Material for the shelter has been donated by ERP Pro Hardware, with the Lion's Club paying for the labour to construct it. Speaking of the Dog Park, we've noticed an alarming amount of dog waste being left on the ground. We kindly ask that everyone do their part and pick up after their pets. The Dog Park is a public space for everyone to enjoy, and with a little effort from all of us, we can keep it clean, welcoming and enjoyable for both people and their pets.

The Lion's have approved $1,000 for School Scholarships for a graduating student, $1,500 to Redvers Tourism for July 1st Activities, and we have sponsored "Partners in Safety" who will be giving out Fire Safe Booklets to the Redvers School.

Reminder, if you have any old unused glasses, we collect them so they can be recycled and given to people in need. Drop off boxes can be found at the Redvers Library and the Redvers Medical Clinic.

Interested in becoming a member of our Lion's Club? Contact your Lion Ticket of the Month seller to learn more, or contact Lion Tracy Kay at 452-7395, we'd love to have you join us.

MANAGING MARGINAL ACRES WITH INNOVATIVE TECHNIQUES AT SOUTH EAST RESEARCH FARM

Submitted by Angela Ulrich

REDVERS, Sask. – Turning problematic land into opportunity is driving several innovative research projects underway at the Redvers Research Farm.

Management of marginal acres and glyphosate-resistant kochia remains a significant challenge for prairie grain and livestock producers. Rather than viewing these problem areas as unproductive land, researchers at the farm (SERF) are exploring practical solutions that could help producers improve profitability while reducing the spread of herbicide-resistant weeds.

"In 2022 we purchased a parcel of land south of Redvers that had issues with salinity, compaction, high pH, and glyphosate-resistant kochia," said Lana Shaw, Executive Director of the Redvers Research Farm. "Where some grain producers would see this as problematic land, I saw it as an opportunity."

The site has since become what Shaw describes as a "field laboratory," where researchers are testing a variety of approaches to manage glyphosate-resistant kochia and improve production on marginal land.

"We are researching different ways to control glyphosate-resistant kochia other than simply applying herbicide after herbicide, which can contribute to new resistance issues," Shaw explained.

Kochia infestations often thrive in areas where crop growth is poor, creating economic challenges for producers. "These areas can become a kochia nursery for developing herbicide resistance," said Shaw. "As resistance spreads to the rest of the farm, producers are forced to spend more money on increasingly expensive herbicide programs. Taking the time to manage these zones differently can be extremely worthwhile in the long run."

According to Shaw, many producers recognize the problem but are unsure where to begin.

"I tease people that they drive through these spots and close their eyes because they know there's no profit there," she said with a laugh. "They know they're losing money, but they don't know what else to do. Instead of guessing at solutions, we're testing different strategies and evaluating the results."

The research program has expanded considerably since its inception, with each trial generating new ideas and opportunities for further investigation.

"If we aren't outsmarting a weed, we aren't being very smart," Shaw added.

Current projects include evaluating crop rotation strategies, comparing winter cereals with spring cereals, and incorporating greenfeed crops into rotations. Researchers are exploring whether harvesting greenfeed before kochia sets seed can significantly reduce future weed pressure. We are researching the benefits of winter cereals combined with controlled or slow-release nitrogen products. Researchers believe nutrient management may play a critical role in improving crop competitiveness while limiting weed growth.

"I think that in some situations we're giving a big gift to the kochia and disadvantaging the crop," said Shaw. "We need to think strategically about feeding the crop without feeding the weeds."

The research team is also investigating how nutrients move across landscapes. Nitrogen can migrate from higher elevations and accumulate in low-lying areas where salinity and other soil constraints are already present. These conditions may be harmful to crops while remaining favourable for kochia growth.

"If the crop isn't growing in a spot, why are we putting nitrogen there?" Shaw questioned. "Or is nitrogen accumulating in those lower areas at levels that are toxic to the crop but not to kochia? These are the kinds of questions we're trying to answer."

Beyond crop management strategies, researchers are conducting detailed soil assessments to better understand the underlying causes of poor performance in marginal acres. Five new on-farm trial sites have been established where researchers are comparing kochia-infested "fail spots" with adjacent areas that continue to produce well.

The studies are examining soil bulk density, compaction, pH levels, salinity, and nutrient balances including calcium, magnesium, and sodium.

"We aim to diagnose the actual problems limiting crop production," Shaw said. "Once we understand the constraints, we can evaluate options to alleviate them and improve productivity."

While solutions may vary from field to field, Shaw believes the research will provide producers with valuable tools and management strategies to address some of the most challenging acres on their farms.

"What started as a problem field has become an opportunity for innovation," she said. "Our goal is to find ways to turn these acres from a source of loss into an opportunity for profit."

PRE-ORDER DEADLINE

CALL OR TEXT THE LIBRARY AT 306-452-3255

Please join us in welcoming our new Head Librarian,
Dolores Caldwell! 📚

Dolores has called Redvers home for the past five years, and many of you may already recognize her from her work with the Handivan or the Haven. Before coming to Redvers, Dolores spent 20 years as the manager of the Reston Recorder.

Dolores is excited to take on her new role at the library and is already looking forward to bringing some new programming ideas to our patrons. Keep an eye out over the coming months to see what she has planned!

And for those wondering, Katy isn't going far! Katy will still be around the library, moving into an assistant role and continuing to help our patrons alongside Dolores.

We're excited for this new chapter at Redvers Library and hope you'll stop in to say hello and give Dolores a warm welcome!

HAPPY HALLOWEEN SAFETY TIPS

Parents/Guardians:

- Ensure your child is accompanied by an adult or older sibling;
- Choose costumes that are bright in colour and make use of a flashlight, reflective patches (glow sticks work great too!!);
- Speak with your child about pedestrian/road safety;
- Examine all candy and treats collected.

Trick or Treaters:

- Look both ways before crossing the street and be mindful of vehicles turning/backing out of driveways;
- Never run out in front of a moving vehicle or try to cross a street between two parked cars;
- Trick or Treat in groups of friends or with your older siblings/parents.

Home Owners:

- As a homeowner make sure the electrical cords which are lighting up your yard are kept out of high traffic areas to avoid tripping hazards;
- Secure your decorations to prevent them from being damaged either through weather and/or vandalism;
- Keep your property well lit for the entire evening.

Motorists:

- DO NOT drive while impaired;
- DO NOT drive distracted, keep your cell phone out of reach;
- Be prepared for the possibility that children may run across the road/intersection, and may be hard to spot between parked cars.

Sixty years, still hand in hand.

Elmer Doell

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who helped in any way, following the death of our husband, father, and grandfather, Elmer Doell.

To the First Responders, Emergency Room staff, Drs. Ghafoor and Karim, Fr. Chinh Vu, the Choir, Hall's Funeral Home, the CWL who served lunch, to those who offered masses, sent cards and flowers and baking to the house; to those from near and far who attended the funeral. It was all greatly appreciated and will always be remembered.

Thank you again, Charlene, Seane, Tanya and families

CARIEVALE 4-H BEEF CLUB

Submitted by Amos Gilliland

Hey everyone! The Carievale 4-H Beef Club had their meeting on September 14, 2026, Clara White kicked things off at 7 p.m., and they all did the 4-H pledge. Mya Gilliland said they should pay the bills, and Kaylie Carr agreed.

They chatted about some fun stuff too. There's a bottle drive coming up on October 17th, and they're planning a ski trip for February break. For new business, they figured out how to pay their club fees online. They also looked over the club rules to make sure everything was still good.

After everyone voted in secret, Mya Gilliland is now the president. Clara White is the new vice-president, Everly Beck is the secretary, Vanessa Cowan is the treasurer, and Amos Gilliland is going to be the club reporter.

thank you

We would like to express our sincere thanks to our families, friends and neighbours for the condolences, cards, phone calls and visits, also for the food brought to our home at the time of Lyle's passing.

SASKATCHEWAN

TOWN OF REDVERS – SEPTEMBER 2026 UPDATE

September has been another busy month for the Town of Redvers! As we move into fall, Town staff have been working on a variety of projects, seasonal maintenance, public safety initiatives, and preparations for the months ahead.

The Town Office has been busy compiling water meter readings for the upcoming utility notices, which will be sent out at the beginning of October. Thank you to everyone who submitted their readings and helped us complete this process.

September also brought some improvements to our community infrastructure.

Concrete and paving work was completed on Eichhorst Street in front of the Medical Clinic, as well as on Warren Street beside the Activity Centre. We appreciate everyone's cooperation and patience while these projects were underway and while temporary closures and access changes were required.

Also this month, CV's Trees & Landscaping was in Redvers completing basal spraying on healthy elm trees at no cost to property owners. This preventative work helps reduce the spread of Dutch Elm Disease by repelling the beetles that can carry the disease.

Another focus this month has been sidewalk and traffic safety. We shared a reminder encouraging everyone to safely share our sidewalks, particularly with pedestrians and those using wheelchairs or medical mobility devices. Young and beginner cyclists are reminded to ride carefully and always give pedestrians the right-of-way, while experienced cyclists are encouraged to use the roadway and follow the rules of the road. Electric kick scooters are not the same as medical mobility scooters and are prohibited on the sidewalks.

The Town also published its 2025 Waterworks Financial Overview, as required under The Municipalities Regulations. Additional waterworks information, including reports, assessments, capital planning information, rate policies, and financial information, can be found online on our website at www.redvers.ca.

Town Staffing & Transit

We have also been busy with recruitment for our Town team. We are pleased to welcome Alix Hainsworth, who joined us as our permanent part-time Transit Bus Driver effective October 1, 2026. Welcome to the team, Alix! Our casual Transit Bus Drivers, Laurie West-Burnham, Yvan Toupin and Joleen Colleaux, will also remain with us and continue to help provide coverage as needed.

With this change, our new permanent Transit Bus hours are Monday to Friday from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. A reminder that the Transit Bus is available to everyone in the community, not just seniors or persons with disabilities. It can be used for trips to and from work, medical appointments, grocery shopping, picking up mail, appointments and other local transportation needs. We can also provide school pickup at 3:20 p.m., bringing students directly home.

For out-of-town trips, excursions or medical appointments, please contact the Town Office at 306-452-3533 to inquire about arrangements. For regular Transit Bus bookings, call or text the Transit Cell at 306-452-7229 between 1:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

We have also recently advertised for an additional member of our Maintenance Team. Applications will remain open until a suitable candidate is selected, and we look forward to adding another member to our Town crew.

Fall Beautification

On Friday, September 25th, the Town Office was closed for our Fall Beautification Cleanup Day. Town staff, along with members of our Bloom Committee, spent the day pulling our Memory Pots, cleaning out flower beds and planters, and getting our community spaces tidied up and ready for the next season.

A big thank you to everyone who came out and joined us! Your extra hands and hard work were greatly appreciated, and we are so thankful for the continued community pride shown throughout Redvers.

Fall Cleanup & Transfer Station Hours

Fall cleanup is upon us! A reminder that our Transfer Station hours change effective November 1st to Sundays only from 12:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

To give everyone some additional time for fall cleanup, the Transfer Station will be open for extended hours on Sunday, October 18th from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. This is a great opportunity to dispose of leaves, garden refuse and complete some of those last cleanup jobs before the cold weather arrives.

Your October Utility Bill

Residents will soon receive their first quarterly utility bill reflecting the new rates that came into effect July 1, 2026. Two of the biggest changes are that the minimum quarterly water allowance has increased from 6,000 gallons to 9,000 gallons, and the quarterly Infrastructure Fee has increased from $50 to $200.

The Infrastructure Fee increase is directly connected to the Town's major Water Treatment Plant Upgrade. The project was originally budgeted at approximately $6.1 million, and the Town was very fortunate to receive $4.5 million in ICIP funding. Unfortunately, when the project went to tender, the total project cost increased to approximately $9.7 million.

The increased Infrastructure Fee will be used to help pay the debt associated with the Water Treatment Plant Upgrade. We recognize that this is a significant increase for residents, and information regarding the changes has been shared over the past several months. If you have questions about your October utility bill once you receive it, please contact the Town Office.

Casual for a Cause

Our Casual for a Cause program continues! Each week, our Administration and Transit staff contribute $5 each to dress casually on Fridays, with the money collected being donated back into our community.

Our most recent donation was made to the Redvers School Breakfast Program, and throughout the year we continue to make donations to a variety of local events, programs and organizations.

Town of Redvers Clothing Order

Our Town of Redvers clothing order is now open and available! Orders can be placed at <https://redverstown26-27.itemorder.com/shop/home/>. If you would like to place an order but need some assistance, stop by the Town Office and we would be happy to help you.

Back Alley Maintenance

We haven't forgotten about our back alleys! Our new blade for the Road Boss has arrived, and we had hoped to get some additional fall maintenance completed. Unfortunately, the recent moisture and ground conditions have made it extremely difficult to complete this work properly.

We realize there are dips in some alleys causing standing water and that drainage has been particularly challenging this year. These areas remain on our maintenance list, and we will continue to watch the conditions. If the weather doesn't improve enough to complete the work properly this fall, back alley maintenance will be moved to next spring. We appreciate everyone's patience and understanding.

September 30

Town Administration staff recognized September 30 by wearing orange in acknowledgement of the National Day for Truth and Reconciliation and Orange Shirt Day.

Remembrance Day

Our Remembrance Day Veteran Banners have been ordered, and we are looking forward to seeing them displayed throughout the community as we honour and remember those who served.

We also have some additional Remembrance Day items in the works! Watch for more information coming soon about Remembrance Day signs, metal poppies, and poppies that can be displayed on your doors. More details will be shared once everything is available.

Lot for Sale – 8 Wauchope Street South

The Town has one remaining lot available in our 1997 subdivision, located at 8 Wauchope Street South, for $5,000. If you are interested or would like additional information about the property, please contact Tricia at the Town Office.

Stay Connected with Voyent Alert

If you haven't already signed up for Voyent Alert, we encourage you to do so! Voyent Alert is our mass text notification system and allows us to quickly share important information and updates with residents.

It's a great way to stay informed about water advisories, service interruptions, emergencies, road closures and other important Town notices.

What's Happening This Week?

We continue to post our "What's Happening This Week" update each Monday to help everyone keep track of what's going on around Redvers.

If your organization, club or group has an upcoming event that you would like included, or if you are worried we may have missed something, please reach out to the Town Office. These posts are generally created the week before and scheduled to be posted on Monday, so please provide your information the week prior whenever possible.

As September winds down, we would like to thank our residents, businesses, staff, and community organizations for their continued patience, cooperation, and involvement. Whether it is infrastructure improvements, community safety, protecting our trees, or keeping Town services running smoothly, there is always plenty happening behind the scenes.

Thank you for continuing to help make Redvers a great place to call home!

SLOW LEARNER

Submitted by Jocelyn Hainsworth

It occurred to me, as it usually does every fall when I am digging my potato crop, that I went way overboard again last spring. I dug one row this morning, filled two tubs and hauled them off to the cold room. That many potatoes will almost assuredly get us to February if not into March. If that's all there were out there, I would be patting myself on the back and putting the garden fork away, but of course that's not the case. That's only Row 1 of 3 and proof positive that I'm a slow learner.

Every fall. Every single fall. Each, and every fall since our kids have been grown and gone, I have planted too many potatoes. Back then maybe I didn't plant enough, I can't remember. There were other contributing factors at the time like I had a full-time job, my garden space was smaller, and life was a scramble, but this retirement thing seems to have skewed my vegetable management skills. There are less people to feed but if anything, my garden has up-sized.

Part of the problem is that I am married to a farmer. There are layers to this, the most prevalent one being as soon as the ground is warm enough a person has to plow it and plant something. He is also retired (although I use the term loosely, he hasn't actually grasped the concept of retirement) so he makes sure my garden space is all ready for planting before he goes off to seed 'man crops'.

The next layer is all the time I have while he's gone. The space he has tilled for me is ridiculously large – all that clear, black earth. Wide open. Deceptively weed free. So much potential.

All that peaceful springtime sunshine.

No one telling me my rows aren't straight. These are all contributing factors.

I don't intend to plant Hell's half acre but the next thing I know is I have six rows of peas, two and a half rows of carrots, beets and Swiss chard enough to feed an army, and so much corn even the coons will be happy.

Not to mention at least double the potatoes we will ever use.

What there needs to be is an intervention.

Well, actually, there needs to be several. There needs to be one right after Christmas when the seed catalogues come and my will power is at it's weakest. The world is cold and colorless and I have a raging case of spring fever – someone needs to sit down with me as I fill out my order and keep me on the straight and narrow. No more "oh, just one more!" or "better get the bigger package" or "if I spend $12.00 more, I won't have to pay shipping!" Obviously, this task requires supervision.

Also, I dare not go unattended into stores with seed displays come spring. Bad things happen.

Greenhouses and nurseries are a much bigger concern... but that is a flower problem and today I am only going to address the veggie situation.

Most importantly, there should be an intervention on potato planting day. If Time is any teacher, I am at my most weak-minded when it's time to put spuds in the ground. My experience is that one bag of seed potatoes gives me 50 plants, which is one and a half rows ...WHICH WILL BE PLENTY FOR OUR NEEDS.

My natural inclination is to not trust a half row of anything. I always want to top it up, which means buying another bag of seed, which means another row and a half... WHICH WILL BE WAY TOO MUCH!!!!

Lastly, maybe someone should be here coaching me through the days of digging this year's crop. Pointing out over and over and over again that these are too many. Possibly placing a poster on the cold room door as a weekly reminder throughout the winter so the lesson sticks this time. Possibly this coach could also be persuaded to take a five gallon pail of potatoes home with them when they leave. And maybe another one for a friend.

But, enough said! There's two more rows to dig and store. If 'muscle memory' worked as a learning aid I might finally learn my potato lesson.
